

Says Defectors Shows Need of Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the defection of two American code clerks shows the need for an examination of the government's entire security machinery.

The President said every possible step must be taken, without violating the rights of individuals, to remove had security risks from positions where they can harm the nation.

Eisenhower told his news conference that the defection of the two code clerks of the National Security Agency proves that Americans must be constantly on the alert.

The two clerks, Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, and William H. Martin, 29, turned up in a Moscow news conference Tuesday and accused America of threatening peace.

The case shows, Eisenhower said, that we must go through our entire procedures to strengthen the possibility that weak, irresponsible, or treasonable persons do not occupy sensitive posts.

Eisenhower said he had not received any indication that Mitchell and Martin were suspected of any plans to defect before they left their jobs, ostensibly on a vacation, last June 24.

Eisenhower said this in reply to a questioner who noted that the pair claimed they had told a member of Congress of their disagreement with American policies.

Capitol Hill hearing that could send sparks starting through high government agencies has been scheduled for Sept. 16 in the case of the two turncoats.

Plans for the hearing were announced within hours after the Moscow news conference, and the two clerks whom Eisenhower has branded as "self-confessed traitors."

Hot Contest on Election Commissions

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Observers expect at least one hot contest tomorrow when the State Election Board meets to name the "third man" on County Election Commissions.

Two delegations from Searcy County, which is almost half Republican and half Democratic, have been pressing for the State Board to name their different choices.

The two candidates are Drewrey Loflin of Snowball and Blaine Mott of Marshall, both Democrats.

An election board member said voters in Searcy County "are about 42 per cent Democrat, and 58 per cent Republicans and if the Democrats want to win an election they have to get about a third of the Republican votes."

The State Board is made up of the constitutional officers, the chairman of the state Republican Party and the secretary of the Democratic Party. Gov. Orval E. Faubus by law is chairman.

Under the three-man setup in Arkansas' 75 counties, the county Democratic chairman is one member and the county Republican chairman is the second. A third will be picked at tomorrow's meeting for all counties.

Capitol Hill Probe of Case of Turncoat Clerks Could Be Rough on U. S. Agencies

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Capitol Hill hearing that could send sparks starting through high government agencies has been scheduled for Sept. 16 in the case of the two turncoat code clerks.

Plans for the hearing were announced within hours after Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, and William H. Martin, 29, turned up at a Moscow news conference and accused the United States of threatening world peace.

President Eisenhower promptly branded the pair "self-confessed traitors."

The Pentagon said one of them was mentally sick and both were obviously confused.

Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Ga., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said the FBI had advised the National Security Agency that one of the pair was a homosexual.

Walter said the NSA this information before the two were hired in 1957.

Walter said he could not identify which one he meant. "The Pentagon didn't say which one it considered mentally ill."

A Pentagon spokesman, asked about Walter's charge, said the department was sticking by its statement of last Friday — that FBI files contained no derogatory information about the two.

The big question was this: How could the pair — one now accused of being a homosexual, one identified as mentally sick and both listed as "obviously confused" — be hired or hang onto jobs in one of the top secret government agencies?

NSA is a defense unit with headquarters about 20 miles from Washington. It operates 24 hours a day, intercepting radio signals and concentrating on codes and communications intelligence.

The agency was reported to have begun a sweeping investigation of its own.

The Pentagon acknowledged that since early August it had been in possession of a letter the pair left in a bank safe deposit box before leaving the country. The letter was seized by court order.

The turncoats read copies of the letter to newsmen in Moscow. Among other things, the statement accused the United States of following espionage policies that threatened world peace.

The two bachelors have been close friends for 10 years. Mitchell's family home is at Eureka, Calif., Martin's at Ellensburg, Wash. They left in June, supposedly on a vacation trip to the West Coast. Later they were traced to Mexico City and Havana. They reportedly were picked up in a Cuban port and smuggled to the Soviet Union aboard a Soviet trawler.

Both complaints argued that the measure's ballot title is defective and that publication of the measure was not made soon enough. The complainants said publication was made only 22 days before filing of ballot petitions with Hall, and that Constitution requires publication at least 30 days before filing.

The wage proposal would set up a minimum pay scale of 80 cents an hour for the first year, 90 cents the second year and $1 beginning with the third year. It would exempt agricultural and domestic workers.

Organized labor sponsored the proposal.

The complainants asked that the matter be advanced on the Supreme Court docket in the public interest.

Appeal Filed in Integration Case

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A Negro attorney Tuesday appealed a federal court ruling which denied 14 Negro students admission to one of the white schools in Little Rock, and asked the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for a speedy hearing.

There was no immediate indication of when the case would be heard.

Willey Branton of Pine Bluff pointed out that Little Rock schools opened Tuesday.

Federal Judge John E. Miller last Friday ruled in effect that suits must be filed individually and not lumped together in "class action."

The plaintiffs contended they should have been assigned to schools on the basis of residential area.

If the higher courts uphold Miller's ruling, and Negroes must file individual cases, the entire integration progress would be slowed.

Petition in Protest to Feed Building

A petition was presented to the Board of City Directors at their meeting Tuesday night, protesting the location of a feed unloading point on the right-of-way of the L&A Railroad at 8th Street.

Some 53 signatures were on the petition.

The objection to the location was based on the possibility that it would create an odor and sanitation problem, resulting in a decrease of property values on residences in the area.

The Board of Directors took no action on the request for the permit pending more information on the type of operation planned for the bulk feed unloading plant.

The Board authorized a request for bids on two 4-door passenger cars to replace the present police cars and a 2-ton dump truck for the "Street Department."

In another action, the Board approved the appointment of Hulan White and W. D. (Dub) Flowers Jr. to the Planning Commission. They will fill positions on the Commission formerly held by Terrell Cornelius and John Wilson and also authorized the mayor to execute an agreement with the Missouri Pacific Railroad covering an electric line crossing.

Kiwanis to Build Chapel at Colony

Hope Kiwanis club today joined other clubs throughout the state in sponsoring a drive to erect a $150,000 chapel at the Arkansas Children's Colony at Conway.

The Hope club was assigned three counties, Hempstead, Howard and Sevier in which funds for the project will be raised.

No quota for any club was announced, but every civic organization and individual in Arkansas are invited to participate in the project and the drive is planned to reach every section of Arkansas.

Kiwanians of Arkansas accepted the challenge of this public fund drive because retarded children at the Colony are now using a temporary auditorium — which must also serve other needs — as their place of worship.

President Henry Seamans has selected committees to head the drive in this area, and they will be announced soon. Part of the solicitation campaign will get underway in September — but the main drive opens Oct. 1, and will continue until Nov. 6.

Kiwanian Thomas Hays will act as finance chairman for this locality, and any firm or individual desiring to contribute to the fund may contact Mr. Hays.

Other activities of the club was the announcement that Mike Kelly, former past president, has been nominated as a candidate for Kiwanis Lt. Gov. of this district.

Ralph Lehman was introduced as a new member, and Jack Newton of Magnolia, was a guest of the club.

Officers charged Hucklebee with running a stop sign.

Congo Group Against Action of 2 Leaders

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The National Assembly today voted to invalidate President Joseph Kasavubu's firing of Premier Patrice Lumumba and Lumumba's order ousting Kasavubu.

The decision was embodied in a single resolution. Lumumba himself voted for the resolution along with 59 members. Nineteen deputies voted against.

The decision throws the conflict between Kasavubu and Lumumba back to where it was. The deputies appeared baffled by the problem and reflected it clearly in confusing speeches which followed one another all day long.

Millarville, Kasavubu picked up strength.

Congolese soldiers loyal to Kasavubu filtered into Leopoldville. Leaders of Kasavubu's Abako party said most came from the army base at Thysville, 70 miles southwest of Leopoldville where the army's July mutiny started.

A U. N. spokesman made clear that the international organization, which has silenced Radio Leopoldville and tightened its control over Congo airports, intends to take determined steps to prevent the spread of disorder.

"Anything that can be done to save Congolese lives in within the spirit and letter of our mandate," he said.

The feud turned into violence Tuesday night when Congo troops backing Lumumba beat and clubbed Kasavubu supporters demonstrating against the premier.

Won't Debase Group in Battle of Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower indicated today he will address the United Nations General Assembly opening Sept. 20, but does not expect to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev there.

The President told his news conference he has no intention of degrading the U. N. by becoming a party to a battle of invective and propaganda.

Eisenhower said the chances that he will see Khrushchev, who has announced he will head the Soviet delegation to the session, are very, very slim indeed.

Certain conditions would have to be fulfilled before such a meeting could be possible, the President said. One, he said in response to questions, would be the freeing of crew members of the American B-27 plane downed by Russia.

There are other conditions, too, he added. But he said he does not intend to discuss them at this time.

One of the first questions put to Eisenhower was a request for evaluation of reports that the Soviet Union has been sending planes to the Congo outside the United Nations program.

Eisenhower said he had been sure he would get such a question. He made it clear he was well prepared by whipping a written statement from his coat pocket.

After the President read the statement, a newsmen asked whether the United States has any evidence that the Soviets are sending arms to the forces of Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Eisenhower replied that we do not know that Soviet crews are operating the planes or that the planes have any arms in their cargoes.

In his statement, Eisenhower said main responsibility for easing the Congo tension has been given to the U. N. as the only organization to act "without adding to the risks of spreading the conflict."

The President said the constitutional structure of the Congo is a matter which should be worked out peacefully by the Congolese themselves.

"This objective is threatened by the Soviet action which seems to be motivated entirely by the Soviet Union's political designs in Africa," he said.

"I must repeat the United States takes a most serious view of this action by the Soviet Union."

Eisenhower urged the Soviet Union "to desist from its unilateral activities and to lend its support instead to the practice of collective effort through the United Nations."

East German President Dies at 84

BERLIN (AP)—Wilhelm Pieck, 84, president of Communist East Germany, died this morning, the official news agency ADN announced.

A bulletin signed by four doctors said a sudden weakness of the heart on Sunday was complicated by an inflammation of the lungs.

Pieck, whose job was largely that of a figurehead had been too ill to appear in public since July 10, 1958. At that time other Communist leaders helped him to the stage at a big party celebration.

Walter Ulbricht, the deputy premier, is the real political leader in East Germany.

One of Pieck's last acts was to receive Seydout Conte as ambassador from Guinea, officially announced as the first country outside the Communist bloc to recognize the East German state. This was in March. President Sekou Toure has since repudiated the recognition.

Pieck's term as president was due to expire in October 1961.

One son and two daughters survive. Arthur Pieck is general manager of the East German airline Luft Hansa. Lore Stainer is East German ambassador to Yugoslavia. His other daughter Billy Winter took care of him in his last illness.

The fat and jovial Pieck was a long-time Communist revolutionary who lived much of his life outside Germany. He returned in 1935 from exile in Moscow and in 1949.

Baptists to Rally Against Kennedy

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Baptist Convention plans a series of "religious freedom rallies" over the state aimed at preventing election of a Roman Catholic president.

The Rev. Barnes K. Selph of Benton Convention president said Tuesday no date has been set for a one-day kickoff meeting in Little Rock but another Baptist official said it was tentatively set for Oct. 3.

Dr. W.O. Vaughn of Little Rock a former Convention president and now a member of its executive board said in letters to the eight Democratic presidential electors that an anti-Kennedy campaign would be carried to all parts of the state. Vaughn a vice president of the Southern Baptist Convention wrote electors, "We cannot turn our government over to a Catholic president who could be influenced by the Pope and by the power of the Catholic hierarchy."

Vaughn delivered the invocation at one session of the Republican National Convention in Chicago last July. Several Arkansas Baptist leaders are known to favor Vice President Nixon the GOP nominee, over Kennedy.

All eight Democratic electors are on record as favoring Kennedy, although technically they are unpledged under state law.

There was no immediate comment from the electors.

CHAPTER XXVII
Brett spent a frustrating night at the barn, wishing, muttering miserably staring into the smothering shadows, rebellious, hopeless, desperate by turn, unable to get his mind off what had happened.

She figured they were at the beginning of something. Brett despising himself, knew better.

Every alien sound brought him up, gun in hand—the creak and snap of settling timbers, rush of wind across the room, wood striking wood, the clack of branches.

Wasn't likely Tice would be back this quickly, but there was Flagger and Red and Syd Stoker—maybe even Bud Lahr and the two-bit Lahr spoke for.

Through sheer nervous exhaustion Brett finally slept, but it did him no good. He was up at first gray crack of dawn, red-eyed.

To have given Lola hope that held no chance of fulfillment was unforgivable—cruel beyond anything Red had done. He had sown the seeds of heartbreak.

Brett went out and shoved his head in the trough, swishing his dripping hair back frantically, glaring at the strengthening pink and cerise behind the humped hills rising out of the east. The heavy clouds above this were no blacker than his thoughts.

He got a rag and cleaned his weapons, got some oats for Roan, the who-whickering softly, shook his flax maned head at Brett.

Brett caught up another horse, getting a measure of grain for him to. Smoke curled above the kitchen stovepipe, Brett went over still carrying the rifles.

Lola, blushing prettily, grabbed up a bowl and began beating something inside it. She had on a clean gingham dress and wore a scarlet ribbon in her hair. She was different, painfully conscious of herself and indescribably attractive. The wonder and the beauty of their relation had transformed her. "Think it's going to rain?"

Brett rubbed his jaws. He was not moved to wonder, too sunk in the morass of his own dark problems. She said, stirring vigorously, moving back to the stove, "I put Vic's razor over there on the window ledge. You've got perhaps three minutes."

Brett took the blade and went out to the trough. He was tempted to get on old Roan and leave. Time he got himself scraped he'd made up his mind to one thing: He rinsed off Vic's razor, wiping it dry on his shirt as he tramped back.

She was in the window hole, staring inscrutably off toward the south, turning when she heard his step. It gave him a twist the way her eyes lighted up. Her smile even further lighted up. Her smile even further lighted up. Her smile even further lighted up.

He was back with the horses when Lola came out with half a box of mixed cartridges which he sorted, stowing the usable ones where they'd be handy. He affixed the canteen to the horn of his saddle and found her prolonged attention disturbing.

"Brett—what will we do?" "See Flagger."

"I mean about — us." There was tension in her look, a mounting fright at the back of her stare. "You'll be all alone."

Her voice began to climb. "You'll be left like my brother!" Brett laughed shortly.

"But this place isn't worth it!" she cried rebelliously. "I—I couldn't bear."

Brett shut his ears and kicked the roan into motion.

Rights Group Claim Enough Signatures

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state chairman of the National States Rights Party said today her group has enough signatures on petitions to get its slate of presidential electors on Arkansas' November general election ballot.

Mrs. E. L. Bishop of North Little Rock said she probably would file the petitions with Secretary of State C. G. Hall Thursday.

Hall confirmed today that the States Rights Party needed 29,525 signatures, or five per cent of the state's registered voters, to get its electors on the ballot.

The States Rights Party already has placed its electors on the Arkansas City ballot with Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas as its candidate. A similar move is underway in Florida.

Arkansas States Rights Party officials have not said who their candidate will be, but it is expected to be Faubus. He was nominated by the party's national convention but the governor has said he is not a candidate and that the nomination was made without his approval.

Faubus has said he will support the Democratic presidential ticket.

No Incident as Dollarway Integrates

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — A six-year-old Negro girl began attending classes with 1,137 white students at Dollarway School near here today. There was no disturbance as school opened.

Delores Jean York was the first of her race to be assigned to the Dollarway School. Segregationist feeling has been high in the Dollarway District.

About 20 white adults stood across the street from the school when classes started, but the girl

Houston Won't Lose State Aid

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas
Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled today that Houston schools will not lose their state aid if they integrate because integration was forced by federal courts.

He pointed out that should Houston integrate its first grade Wednesday, the action was not voluntary by the school board.

"The opinion can be expected to have far-reaching effects in Texas, where anti-integration state laws call for loss of a major portion of state aid, loss of accreditation and criminal penalties for school board members where the schools desegregate without approval of voters.

"The opinion said the board has resisted the federal court order with every legal device it can muster.

It added that "under these circumstances it would be harsh indeed to punish the board members with fines of from $100 to $1,000 each for something which they were compelled to do by a federal court order."

were Curtis P. Moore of Minden, La., brother of the bride, and Karl Sauer of Mena, Ushers who also lighted the candles were Jerry McKenzie, brother of the bridegroom, and Lawrence Harrison,
both of Smackover.

Dressed in pale blue lace, Mrs.
Moore, mother of the bridegroom,
wore mauve lace with matching accessories. Each had a white carnation corsage.

A reception followed in the recreation room of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over yellow, and centered with an arrangement of Shasta daisies and yellow candles.
Serving the tiered wedding cake
was Mrs. Gayle Moore of Allus, Okla., sister-in-law of the bride.
Miss Brenda McKay of Waverly,
La., cousin of the bride, poured the punch. Another sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Curtis P. Moore of Minden, La., had charge of the guests book.

For their wedding trip the bride wore a gray suit with red accessories and pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulders. The newlyweds will make their home in Little Rock, where she will be a senior in Arkansas Pharmacy
School and he will be a senior
in Arkansas Medical School.

Hatred of Father
Corrodes His Heart

BY HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
Home Ill—I was 18, neither my father nor mother was very happy. But I had an unhappy childhood—that is my trouble. My mother says she loves me and my brother in the Service. I am 25, he is 20.

But from the time I was 18
home ill—I was in neither my mother nor father ever showed any affection for us kids. My father never held a job for more than a couple of months. He just won't work to support my mother.
About a year ago she came to stay with us. My father is very cruel and beats her. So we agreed that she should get a divorce.
Everything was all set, then she changed her mind.

With this background, how should I feel or what should I do when she writes? I don't hate her but I do hate my father.
I've tried in every way to be different from him. I spend time with the kids, tell them I love them, I work as many days as I can, and take every bit of overtime possible so we can have a better life. But please tell me how to help myself. Everyone says "the hate I have for my father is destroying something good in me, Carl."

Dear Carl:

I can understand your lack of love for your father, but—don't let hatred consume your heart.
It will, unless you take a positive stand. Refuse, if only for the sake of the family you love—
your wife and your children—to be dominated by this corrosive emotion. Wipe your father off the state of your mind. Every time some unhappy memory of him
creeps into your consciousness, block it out. If you don't he will continue to blight your life.

As for your mother, perhaps she hesitated to divorce your father for the simple reason that she loved him.

Try not to be too harsh on him
for, thanks to his harsh treatment of you, your children have a good bit of Little Rock, where she will be a senior in Arkansas Pharmacy
School and he will be a senior
in Arkansas Medical School!

Put this in the paper so I can show my husband your answer. I would like to know what to do with a husband who watches
TV every single night for the past 14 years and neglects his home and work shop. The children complain "they can't sleep with the voices in the room (including me).
I've cut wires. I yell. Nothing helps. He is a very good husband
if I just let him watch TV and do his work. —Mrs. E. T.

TV may be an escape from life as he finds it. Try lifting him out of the doldrums. Plan something special for him—a surprise party, an evening with the boys—
anything to get him out of the TV
rut. Watching it has evidently become a habit. Tell him, as my mother's professor of Greek used to tell her, "Don't get a habit or the habit will get you."

Dear Helen:

I am 18 and ashamed to say I'm scared of people. I've worked in the same place five years. Five others work beside me—all older than me. I never talk to them unless they talk to me. When I walk home I shiver like a pole
as though everyone is looking at me. When I'm with my friends,
I laugh, sing, dance, have a good time. You would never believe I was the same person. Can you help me? —Scared

Dear Scared:

You need a course in public speaking, not with the idea of becoming an orator but solely for the purpose of losing your self-consciousness. I'm shy by nature too, and I did just what I'm advising you to do. It worked! Wonders for me, as I know it will for you. Join a club or take part

some civic activity where you will be called upon to speak.

Chapter XXVIII
Currycomb had the scraped,
bare look of an armed encampment.
Flagler apparently had sized things up about the same as Brett and was not minded to be caught napping. A hundred yards from headquarters a bleached, puncher stepped out of the hackberries crouching a rifle and, looking them over,
waved them on without remark.
As they went past he loosed two shots overhead before ducking
back in the brush. Brett said:
"How much of a crew has Flagler got?"

"About a dozen, I think," Lola replied.
"Any women around?"

"Probably one in every closet
and two or three under each bed."

Brett said after a moment,
"You don't like him much, do you?"

"What cause has he given me?"
She looked up at Brett. "He won't help. I should think you could see that. How do you know what Tice hasn't promised? Every move Flagler makes is weighed first for a profit." She shook her head irritably.

Brett had hoped to leave her here at least until he could think of something better. Now he wasn't so sure.

Flagler's buildings, low squat
boxes of unplastered adobe,
showed narrow slots for windows
and heavy plank shutters that could be yanked shut with draw-strings. Brett remembered this place, recalling that Flagler when Frank senior was still around had displayed a considerable interest in Jo.

The man had toughened up a lot since then.

Brett picked out a man with a gun in the shadows of the stable arch, another silently crouched behind an open bunkhouse window. There were probably others, although with cattle to watch a crew of a dozen might be spread pretty thin. He kept his attention on Flagler. Flagler was staring at the girl.

"That's far enough," he called when they were 10 feet short of the porch.

Brett folded both hands across

Religion Not an Issue, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today emphatically repudiated the religious issue as a political weapon to be used by himself, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, or other members of the Republican party.

In what amounted to a reply to a charge by former President Harry S. Truman that Nixon was telling religious bias enter the campaign by the back door, Eli-senhower said he knew of no Republican who had suggested to him that the religious issue be used.

The question of religion as a campaign issue arose because Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Democratic presidential nominee, is a Roman Catholic.
Nixon, the Republican nominee,
was reared as a Quaker.

The President said he hoped that religion is an issue could be laid on the shelf and forgotten until the election is over.

Crosby Honeymooning

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gary
Crosby, in the Crosby-soil tradition, is honeymooning today with a Las Vegas showgirl.

"Like his three brothers before him, the eldest of crooner Bing's sons married one of the dancers
from this glittering desert spa."

No other Crosbys were in attendance when the civil ceremony was performed Tuesday night at the resort hotel where the bride, pretty Barbara Stuart, has been appearing.

Miss Andrews Pledges Vows in Memphis Sunday

Miss Sandra Lee Andrews was married to Lt. William Roy Holcomb at 4 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church at Memphis.
The bride is the daughter of Mrs.
Cledley Cox Andrews and the late Harold G. Andrews and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams Robertson of Saginaw, Mich. A reception was held after the ceremony.

Grandparents of the bride are
Dr. James Ellis Cox of Houston and Mrs. Charles Crump Andrews of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Dr. Paul Caudill officiated. Miss Mary Ann Turner was vocalist.
Lamar King was organist.

The bride was given in marriage
by her uncle, "Ho" Ellis Cox of Brownwood, Tex. She wore a beautiful gown of ivory brocade satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. The bouffant skirt was draped to form a bustle effect.

Her illusion veil was attached to a crown of pearls and she carried a cascade of roses centered with orchids.

Mrs. E. C. Beasley of Little Rock was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Thiza Moberg
and Miss Peggy Hoot. Donald Trim of Saginaw, served as best man and groomsmen were Lt.
Marion Woodring of Livingston, Mont. and Lt. Edward Trivette of Baldwin, Md. Ushers and sabraeers were Lt. John Car-dona of Modesto, Calif., Lt. William Richardson of Delmar, N. Y., Lt. Loyd Shelton of Atlanta, Ga., Lt. Bernard Tucci of Englewood,

Rainbow Girls Elect Officers

The regular meeting of the Order of Rainbow for Girls No. 57
was held Saturday at the Masonic Hall.

The following new officers were elected for the September-January term: Worthy Advisor, Helendale Ledbetter; Worthy Associate Advisor, Simone Webb; Charity, Nancy Bratton; Hope, Ellen Rettig.

Twisted the weapon away from her.

Both horses were dancing, halt minded to pitch. Men were hol-tering. In the midst of this uproar Flagler commenced to yell
like a lone. "Cut 'em down!"

One look at the rancher told Brett he wasn't fooling. Except for Lola's horse getting his head down, humping into a series of half-hearted jumps between Brett and the pair crouched in bunkhouse and stable, he reckoned they'd have done it. As it was, the girl's position gave him
a chance to spin the room. But Lola wasn't in Flagler's way and now he had his gun up. It was plain by the way he was throwing down on them, he didn't care which he hit, and it came over Brett the man was trying to buy his way with them into Tice's good graces.

Yanking the girl's animal around by the cheek strap Brett carried him along until both horses were stretching; then,
turning loose, he cut the gray
with his rein ends. "Ride!" he shouted.

Flagler's gun was pounding
and lead was ripping and chuffing, the sound vicious as horns.
All about the yard other weapons
were throwing out bursts of black powder as the squealing
horses plunged into the hack-berry jungle. Brett and Lola bent as low as the horns of their saddles permitted—each held an arm folded ahead of and over them to fend off the worse of the slashing branches.

Thinks U. S. Again Lost Good Chance

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Once
again Russia has forced this country to do what it did in the U.S.
spy case: admit the whole story
only after the Soviets exposed it to the rest of the world.

This time it involves two young mathematicians—William H. Mas-lin and Bernard F. Mitchell—who defected to Russia from their jobs in the highly secret National Security Agency.

It raises a question. Since this government could have taken the slings out of Russian propaganda
by revealing the truth before the Russians had a chance to, why didn't it do so?

It failed in the same way when U.S. pilot Francis Gary Powers and his plane were brought down over Russia last May. When Premier Nikita Khrushchev disclosed the downing, he said the plane had been spying.

Not knowing whether Khrushchev was guessing or could prove what he said, the State Department denied Powers was on a spy mission. As it turned out, Khrushchev had been merely baiting the trap for such a denial by withholding all he knew.

Then he announced Powers had been captured alive and admitted
the spying. The State Department
then admitted the spying, too.

Last Aug. 1 the Defense Department announced it was searching for Marlin and Mitchell who were overdue after vacation, in their jobs at NSA, which is involved in very secret communications and codes.

The department said the two men, both bachelors and long-time friends who had served in the Navy together in the mid-1950s,
had flown to Mexico City June 24. They were traced to Cuba.

On Aug. 5 the Defense Department said "it must be assumed that there is a likelihood" that the two missing employees "have gone behind the Iron Curtain."

What the Pentagon didn't disclose until Tuesday—and then only when forced into it by Mitchell and Marlin—was this:

Early in August government investigators had found in a safe deposit box where Marlin and Mitchell had left it, a letter saying they had defected to Russia.

Tuesday in Moscow the Russians, with a great propaganda
whoop-dee-doo, put the two Americans on exhibition at a news conference before Soviet and foreign newsmen.

The two code clerks, admitting they fled to Russia and expect to become Russian citizens, said the United States spies on its own allies. As an example, they mentioned Turkey. The Defense Department referred to their "false statements," but did not say which were false.

The pair read from what they said was a copy of a statement
they had left in a safe deposit
box, in Mitchell's name, in a Maryland bank in June.

On the envelope of the original statement, they said, they wrote a request that the contents be made public so that American people would get an explanation of "why we decided to ask the Soviet Union
to grant us political asylum."

Mitchell and Marlin charged that the U.S. government took that statement and kept it secret
because the "Eisenhower-Nixon administration does not wish certain aspects of its policies to become known to the American people."

Tuesday a Defense Department spokesman was asked why the government had kept this Mitchell-Marlin letter under wraps
since finding it in early August.

He said it was a statement of
"two turncoats," its publication would have served Communist purposes only, and it was part of an investigation.

The book is full of reassuring
data of this sort. I noted, to be sure, that there were 44,100,000
homes without room air conditioners as of last January. But this
bly includes igloos.

Let us measure against this privation the fact that we purchased, of ten times at a discount, 3,300,000 electric blankets, 525,000
automatic dishwashers, 4,200,000
power lawn mowers, 8,270,000 television sets and 8,100,000 clocks.

We owe plenty
these figures, staggering
though they may be, do not begin to tell the whole story of America in the abstract. They do not tell, for instance, how much we still owe on these appliances.

I did learn, however, that we are in hock for $131,144,000,000 in home mortgages. This is a figure we can all be proud of and I am pleased to say that I have contributed more than my share
to the mass indebtedness.

In short, the book is a veritable storehouse of mish-mash about you and me and our neighbors.
Among other things, it is useful in setting arguments over U. S.
sugar-cane syrup production. If you can borrow the $3.50 someplace, I would recommend that you buy it.

Brand Qualifies as Independent

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Hugh Brand of Fort Smith today filed petitions qualifying himself as an independent candidate for the 10th Congress District judgeship.

Brand, an attorney and former U.S. Commissioner, told Secretary of State C. G. Hall he had 529 names on the petitions. He needs only 2,718 to get his name on the general election ballot.

Brand will oppose the Democratic nominee, Franklin Wilder, who is seeking reelection.

Wilder was indicated recently
by the Sebastian County Grand Jury on a charge of conspiracy to induce a minor female to make a statement degrading his character.

The indictment resulted from a political advertisement run in connection with the Democratic primary in which Wilder was opposed by Municipal Judge James Langston of Fort Smith.

Brand had announced before the primary was held that he would run as an independent. He termed himself a "democrat" but said he decided to make the race too late to qualify for the Democratic primary.

Prisoners Refuse to Go to Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Al-
bionides and Alcatraz federal prison
today sought the reason why most of the 250 inmates refused to answer work call Tuesday morning.

There was no noise and no violence in the strange and unexplained work stoppage. The convicts in the offshore penitentiary for some of the country's toughest prisoners were kept in their cells
throughout the day.

Prison authorities said each prisoner denied knowledge of who ordered the work stoppage or why it was ordered. They said each prisoner was afraid of reprisal if he went back to work.

primary was held that he would

Didn't Take Call From Alaska

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—The Martindale is calling from Fairbanks, Alaska, the operator told Texarkana Gazette sports writer
Paul Davis when he answered the telephone.

"He wants you to pay for the message," she added.

Davis first wanted to know the nature of the call.

The operator checked with Martindale then told the waiting Davis
"Mr. Martindale wants to know how the football game between Arkansas High of Texarkana and Crossett came out."

Davis declined the call. But he may have Gerald Martindale, a senior tackle and starter for Arkansas High, answer the question by letter.

The elder Martindale, Gerald's
father, is in Alaska, presumably on a construction job. Davis said
Oh, yes, Crossett won 15-0.

Lighter Side of Life in United States

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 1960 edition of the "Statistical abstract of the United States" went on sale this week and I hastened forth to obtain a copy.

I suppose I am as bemused
by statistics as the next man, but I do like to read about myself,
which is why I treasure this book. It has 1,040 pages and I am mentioned on almost every page.

For instance, page 40 offers the information that as of March, 1959, this country had 10,168,000
married men between the ages of 35 and 44. I don't like to brag, folks, but one of those 10,168,000
was little old me.

The abstract was published by the Commerce Department and sells at the government printing office for $3.50 a copy. If you searched hard enough, I expect you would find that you are represented somewhere in it, too.

I trust, however, that you were not one of the 524 citizens who were fined for violating the federal migratory bird laws in 1959.

Construct Statistical Man
Using the 1,230 tables of figures printed in the book, it would be possible to construct a statistical man who would be a composite American. I don't care to do that because it would include some things that I don't like to think about.

I don't like to think that we killed ourselves in traffic accidents at the rate of 30 per 100, 000 last year, or that 5.9 out of every 100,000 cooked out with ulcers.

I had rather think nice things about us. Did you know that we imported $13 million worth of miscellaneous vegetable products last year?

The book is full of reassuring
data of this sort. I noted, to be sure, that there were 44,100,000
homes without room air condition-
ers as of last January. But this

Sue Hudson and Jerry Kidd Exchange Vows at College View

The wedding of Miss Sue Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Hudson of Magnolia and Jerry Kidd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kidd of Hope, was solemnized Friday, August 20 in College View Baptist Church.

Bride Charles Walker of Conway officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Miss Pat Walker of Conway, pianist, accompanied Dan Nipper of Magnolia who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candlelighters were Cecil McBride Jr. of Pine Bluff and Dagny Flowers of Ashdown, cousins of the groom.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and four seven-branched candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves and a full flowing skirt. Lace beaded with tiny pearls was applied to the sleeves and tunic bodice. Her tiered veil of silk illusion fell from a crown.

She carried a bride's bible, a gift of the groom, on which was a bouquet of fringed carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Melba Lewis of Magnolia was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Beard of Magnolia and Miss Jo Ann Kidd of Hope, sister of the groom.

They wore dresses of blue crystalline taffeta fashioned with a scalloped neckline and short sleeves. Their flat, bow-d heels joined full gathered skirts. They wore large blue satin bows in their hair and matching satin shoes and carried cascades of pink asters.

Serving as flower girl was Miss Cindy Hudson, sister of the bride, who also wore a blue crystalline taffeta dress fashioned with a scalloped neckline, balloon sleeve and a cummerbund. Her headpiece was made of tiny blue satin bows and the basket from which she dropped petals was made of the same fabric as her dress.

David Spillers of Hope was best man and ushers were Michael Hudson, brother of the bride and Jimmy Quillen of Benton, La., cousin of the groom. The ring bearer was Mike Atkins, another cousin of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hudson wore a beige lace sheath with satin trim and beige accessories. The mother of the groom wore a mauve lace sheath with bone accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson entertained with a reception in the Baptist Student Union Building after the ceremony. On the table was the pink and white wedding cake the punch bowl and a centerpiece of pink Shasta daisies.

Assisting with the reception were Miss Linda Rushton, Mrs. William Fort and Miss June Gray all of Magnolia and Miss Lynda McBryd of Pine Bluff, cousin of the groom. Sheila and Steve Bobo cousins of the groom, passed out blue tulle and ribbon bags of rice to the guests.

Miss Dianne Wise registered the guests. Attending from Hope were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kidd, Miss Nancy Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Kidd, Debbie and Dianne, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kidd, Miss Milt Flowers, David Spillers, Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Flowers and Miss Jackie Kidd.

For travel the bride changed to a brown and white checked fall suit with white accessories. She pinned the orchid from her corsage at her shoulder. After a short wedding trip the couple are at home in Conway where both are students at Conway Baptist College.

Insecure Boy Bullies Family

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE Dear Helen:

Four years ago my husband left me with three children and a fourth due. He sends no support so I work.

The eldest of these children, 13, remembers his father and has put him on a pedestal. No matter what I do to make a happy home, he makes life unpleasant for all of us. He tells the younger children that I am to blame for their father leaving. He shows no respect for anyone and resents discipline.

Now high school is starting. Have you any suggestions how we can start a new and happier relationship so each of us will be happier? We attend church regularly. The younger children and myself love this child.

Please print your answer. He reads your column daily. — A Dis- tressed Mother

I can best answer your ques- tion by telling about a friend who found herself in a similar situa- tion. Her 13-year-old son stayed out all night, joined a gang, was as defiant and as smart as an untagged panther cub.

I happened to be visiting his mother one evening. As usual, he was out—where she did not know. Because she was worried, I wait- ed. He swaggered in about mid- night, clothes grimy, hair tousled, looking like the typical Dead End Kid. His mother, nerves over- wrought, began scolding. He was ready with words sharper than hers—thin little body braced, grimy nails digging into grimy palms, certain all the world was against him. "I hate you and you hate me," he screamed at her. "I went over and hit my arms around him. 'Darling,' I said, holding him close, 'your mother doesn't hate you, she loves you. It's because she cares so much that she's upset. You had her all worried.'"

"I could feel the child's body shake convulsively. His lower lip quivered. Tears welled in his eyes. Next moment, head buried against my shoulder, he was sob- bing his heart out. The sobs were broken. Love had won him over. I went to his graduation the

Dear Helen:

I am a senior in high school in a very desperate situation. My best girl friend has been going with a boy for almost a year, not steady, but she is the only girl he has taken out on dates until lately. For the past two weeks he has been asking me out. I've refused because she really likes him. I like him an awful lot too, but she is my best friend. Now he has asked me to a party in honor of the seniors. If I refuse, even if someone else asks me, I won't be able to go. What should I do? — V. G.

Dear V. G.:

Choose between your girl friend and your boy friend. It's a serious question and has been a theme in fiction and biography since the beginning of time.

Don't take this lightly. Ask your friend if she really loves the boy. If she doesn't want him forever and ever, go to it. However, if you know she does, even though she won't say so, the only honorable course for you is to withdraw.

Dear Helen:

In a recent column you mentioned the letters of Mrs. John (Abigail) Adams and those of her descendant, Henry Adams, to his niece. Where can I find a copy of those letters?

My ancestor, Henry Adams, left Devonshire, England, with his wife, daughter and eight sons for Boston in 1632 or 1633. They settled in Massachusetts. I am trying to get more information about them and their families. Any you give me will be appreciated. This is a different problem than those you usually write about, but it is important to me and our family of Adams' descendants. — Mrs. W. J.

Yankees Gain With Win as Orioles Lose

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Pinch hitters had been such a flop for the New York Yankees that they went out looking for help. But it was a couple of guys they had all along—Yogi Berra and Johnny Blanchard—who delivered in the clutch and put the Yanks within a half game of the American League lead.

After an error loaded the bases, Berra and Blanchard each slammed two runs across with pinch hits as the Yankees came from behind in a four-run eighth inning and defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-4 Wednesday night.

It was only the third victory in eight games for the Yankees, but it put them on the heels of Baltimore again after the first place Orioles had lost 3-2 at Cleveland.

Washington who clung to fourth place by beating Kansas City 5-3, and Boston rallied for a 5-4 victory at Detroit.

In the National League, second place St. Louis cut Pittsburgh's bulge to six games by beating the Pirates 2-1. Third place Milwaukee defeated San Francisco 6-5 in 11 innings. Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 4-3 in 15 innings, and Philadelphia rapped Chicago's Cubs 2-0.

The Yankees, down 4-1 after Sherm Lollar's two-run homer for the Sox in the seventh inning, got rolling when Sammy Esposito, subbing for the ailing Nellie Fox at second base, booted Bill Skowron's doubleplay grounder. Berra, batting for Elston Howard, then tagged a two-run single off loser Early Wynn (11-10), and Blanchard, batting for Cleo Boyer, ripped a winning, two-run double which urged a new appeal to all countries to refrain from actions which might aggravate the situation.

Tunisian Ambassador Mongi Slim, only African member of the council, was understood to be working on a resolution embodying this and other recommendations by the secretary general aimed at easing the Congo conflict.

These include: An appeal to the warring factions to settle their differences by peaceful means.

A clarification of the mandate of the U.N. military force.

Establishment of a special account of $100 million for the immediate financial support of the Congo government to avert economic collapse.

By JOHN SCAVI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strong U.S. support was indicated today for a United Nations move to halt the flow of Soviet technicians, planes and supplies to the crisis-lorn Congo government.

Meanwhile officials said this country will avoid any independent action.

Without mentioning the Soviet Union or any other country, U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold early today called for Security Council action to halt outside aid to factions in the Congo. U.N. sources said the council may meet Friday or Saturday to consider the resolution.

In advance of today's announcement, Hammarskjold was understood to have complained privately to the Soviet government about the amount and purpose of Soviet aid provided outside U.N. channels.

The informal Soviet reply, a bit indignant, reportedly was that they were merely trying to help restore order out of chaos in cooperation with the U.N. objective of bringing peace to the troubled area.

Air Alert Said Successful

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Air National Guard officials said a practice alert which sent Little Rock Air Guardsmen hurrying to their units Wednesday night was a satisfactory test.

Units reported turnouts of 50 to 80 per cent. of their men within two hours of the initial warning.

Brig. Gen. Frank Bailey, Air Guard commander, said approximately 600 men were involved in the training mission. All Air Guard units are required to conduct unannounced practice alerts each year, Bailey said.

First word of the operation brought a flurry of calls to police and news media, but the excitement died when it was learned the alert was only a practice mission.

Minor Sports Gives Russia Olympic Lead

Associated Press Sports Editor By TED SMITH

ROME (AP)—Russia, its unofficial team lead threatened by a strong United States comeback, collected its 25th gold medal of the Olympic Games today when Sergey Filatov was declared winner of the Grand Prix of Dressage, one of the premier tests of horsemanship.

The best U.S. showing was sixth place by Pat Galvin, 21-year-old rider from Santa Barbara, Calif. Jessica Newberry of All-Sable Farms, N.Y., was 12th.

Filatov, a decorated two-time Olympic champion Henri St. Cyr of Sweden in winning Russia's first gold medal ever in Olympic equestrian competition.

Gustav Fischer of Switzerland was second, Josef Neckermann of Germany third, St. Cyr fourth and another Russian, Ivan Kalita, fifth.

With track and field moving into its last full day only the marathon on Saturday remains after today's events—several of the so-called minor sports dominated the morning Olympic program.

Following the dressage competition, the unofficial team point score of the leaders looked like this:

Russia 515, United States 485 1/2, Germany 283 1/2, Italy 222.

The United States had a touch of high life for a few hours in the Olympics Wednesday. They seized the lead in the unofficial sprint for team honors after a splendid day in track and field, weightlifting and yachting.

Up to midnight, the American Olympic squad had compiled 47 1/2 points to take a slim lead of 3 1/2 points over the Russians.

The United States had the most gold medals, 30 to Russia's 26. But the American 15 silvers and 15 bronzes fell short of the Soviets' 17 silvers and 21 bronze medals.

Uncle Sam's forces started Wednesday 28 points behind. Then Al Oerter, defending Olympic champion from West Babylon, N.Y., cracked his own mark in the discus with a heave of 194-2 to lead an all-American sweep. Behind him with the silver medal was Rank Babka, Manhattan Beach, Calif., with 190-4 1/2, and in third for the bronze was Richard Cochrane of Brookfield, Mo., with 187-6 1/2.

American pole vaulters made it one-two as Don Bragg, the world champion, won the gold medal and Ron Morris, Burbank, Calif., took the silver with 16-0 1/2. Stom of Finland third, Bragg, Pennsville, N.J., cleared 15 ft. 3 1/4 inches. Morris was second with 15-1 1/2.

A gold medal came also to the United States from Charles Vinci of Cleveland, in the bantam-weight weightlifting, his second straight Olympic triumph in the event.

He equaled the games mark with 231 1/2 pounds in the press, broke the Olympic record and equaled the world figure with 237 in the snatch and then topped it with 292 in the clean and jerk for 760 1/2 pounds to tie the world standard.

In yachting, the gold went to George O'Day of Dover, Mass., in the 5.5 meter class.

415 Killed in Auto Accidents

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents killed 415 persons during the three-day Labor Day weekend, the lowest for the holiday since 1954.

The final toll also was less than the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 460 and the record Labor Day total of 461, set in 1951.

This year's traffic deaths compared with 438 last year. The 1954 total was 364.

Star Installs New Omega Enlarger in Darkroom

— Hope Star photo enlarger has been replaced in Hope Star's darkroom with a new Omega 4x5 auto-focus machine. NEGATIVE-PRODUCED PICTURES, APPEARING IN THE Star the last two weeks were enlarged on the new instrument. It is a condenser-type enlarger, which gives pictures greater brilliance and detail, especially in the shadow area, than was possible with the old Elwood reflector-type machine. THE NEW OMEGA IS EQUIPPED WITH THREE GERMAN Schneider lenses and negative-carriers, enabling it to make 16x20-inch or larger prints from all size negatives, from 4x5 down to and including 35mm. As the machine is racked up or down for larger or smaller prints the picture remains in constant focus, speeding up darkroom production. SERIOUS PHOTOGRAPHERS WHO WISH TO INSPECT the new Omega may do so by appointment with The Editor.

Sonny Liston Decisions Eddie Machen

By JACK HEWINS

Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP)—Sonny Liston of Philadelphia was a disappointed fighter today although he had proven a few hours earlier that he was better than the second best heavyweight contender—Eddie Machen of Portland.

The victory left Liston No. 1 man behind heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson. Weighing 211 pounds to Machen's 196, Liston pursued the agile Machen for 12 rounds Wednesday night and caught up just often enough to score a unanimous, but close, decision in the nationally televised fight.

"Couldn't do anything. He was running," grunted Liston.

He landed a few good jabs, hit the Portland high on the head on both arms and a couple of times below the belt. One of these Machen, 196, Portland, Ore., 22 underhand punches dropped Mach-Phil Moyer, 155, Portland, outpointed Cecil Short, 150, Cleveland, 10.

Machen landed a few solid lefts but spent most of his time circling away from the plodding Liston. The Portland said after the day in the Spring River was re-fought he did not throw a right because he strained the ligaments in his arm while sparring with Bill Bestmanoff in training.

"Only my manager and trainer was pulled under by the current know about it," he said "Maybe I could have gotten a postpone-ment, but everything was set for

Most of the Big Nine Conference football teams selected high-caliber Class AA opposition for their first outings of the season tomorrow night. And seven of the nine rate favorites.

Texarkana is the only team meeting opposition of its class, the Razorbacks go against Texarkana, Tex., and are the underdogs. Big Nine champion Little Rock Hall, hurt by graduation and injuries, is the underdog tonight against Little Rock Catholic, the state's top Class AA team.

The Big Nine favorite, El Dorado, is rated a two-touchdown favorite over tough Smackover of Region 4AA. And Little Rock Central, ranked second in the Big Nine, is a three-touchdown favorite over 3AA Benton.

Smackover and Crossell are rated co-favorites in 4AA. Crossell is heavily favored tomorrow night over Class A Monticello. Forrest City, the top team in 3AA, gets the nod over tough Conway of 3AA.

The Hot Springs Trojans, who have lost 13 straight football games since 1950, are favored to beat Morrilton 6-0 in a game that could arouse the sports fans.

Here are the listings for the week:

L.R. Catholic 20, L.R. Hall 7. Hall has much recuperating to do. And the Rockets are among the strongest in the state.

North Little Rock 14 Subiaco 13. Quarterback Al Smith and his Subiaco team will make a fight of it, but the Northstars have more overall strength.

Pine Bluff 19, Hope 6. An excellent test for the question mark Zeboras. Hope could surprise.

Texarkana, Tex. 26, Texarkana, Ark. 6. Size, speed and the old hex will be too much for the out-manned Razorbacks.

Fort Smith 13, Van Buren. A good grudge fight but Fort Smith is easily the strongest.

Little Rock Central 20, Benton 0. Al Benton that means something, but quarterback Claude Fulton should baffle the Panthers.

El Dorado 27, Smackover 12. If the Wildcats aren't ready, the hot bucks will worry them.

Hot Springs 6, Morrilton 0. Here's playing a hunch that new coach C. B. Haynie will have the Trojans ready.

Blytheville 12, Osceola 7. Another grudge battle and Blytheville should be up for it.

In Region 1AA:

Harrison 22, Berryville 0; Siloam Springs 8, Rogers 0; Springdale 14, Pryor, Okla. 12.

In 2AA:

Forrest City 27, Conway 14; Helena 16, Paragould 0; Stuttgart 26, West Memphis 0; Wynne 6, Newport 0; Jonesboro 32, Batesville 6.

In 3AA:

the fight."

The poker-faced Liston, who had said he didn't expect it to go the distance, called it a poor fight. "Takes two to make a fight," he said. "Machen wouldn't."

Under the 10-point must system one judge favored Liston 118-114, the other 118-116, the referee had it 119-112 and The Associated Press card had Liston by 118-115. The 11th was taken away from the winner because of the foul.

Dinner-In-A-Dish

Nutritionally, dinner is usually the biggest meal of the day. But from the cook's point of view, it should be easy to prepare as well as good to eat. For quick and easy dinners, evaporated milk is a real genie-in-a-can. Always dependable, it can be stored on a pantry shelf with no fear of spoilage. Its smooth, blendable texture makes this Tuna-Fettl Casserole an immediate success. And it takes only thirty minutes to prepare.

Tuna-Fettl Casserole

- 2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 1 can (1 pound) cut green beans
- 1 1/2 cups packaged precooked rice
- 1 can (4 ounces) pimiento, diced

Drain oil from tuna into 10-inch skillet. Add onion and cook until crisp-tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add evaporated milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Drain liquid from beans; reserve 1/2 cup. Add beans and tuna to skillet. Push mixture to sides of pan. Place rice in center. Pour reserved bean liquid over rice. Add pimiento and stir gently. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 15 minutes. Fluff rice with fork before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

Both Longs Had Magic Politically

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earl was a country bumpkin compared with Huey, but the two Long brothers who died 25 years apart, almost to the day, had the secret of political magic.

They were for something—just being against isn't good enough—and they gave those who voted for them a sense of direction, or of belonging, or of being wanted, or of somehow being identified with them.

Earl had been a three-time Louisiana governor. When he died Monday at 65 he had just won the Democratic runoff primary for a congressional seat after losing a fight for lieutenant governor and ducking in and out of mental hospitals.

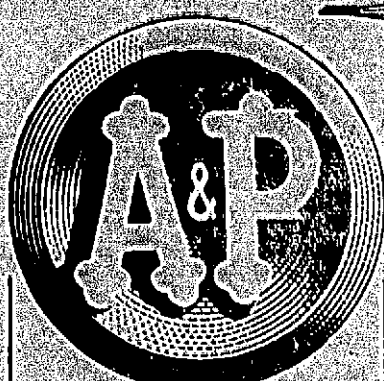

When Sen. Huey Long died Sept. 10, 1935, after being shot, he had become bigger than Louisiana politics. He was a national figure, getting bigger and, from the long-range view, perhaps more dangerous.

This writer never believed that Sen. Joseph McCarthy, despite such support as he had, would ever go further than the Senate, or that he would remain there long after his crusade simmered down.

McCarthy wasn't for something. He was against something—Communism. Most other Americans were against it, too. But this in a sense was negative. It never gave voters the feeling they were going any place with McCarthy. McCarthy had only one string to his bow, and it snapped. By the time he died in 1954 he was in eclipse. Even Hitler knew politics better than that. He was against Jews. But he was for a bigger Germany, a richer German life, he said.

Nobody knew the political magic better than the old Tammany Hall

Skillet Supper, Italian Style

Here is a suggestion for giving your favorite skillet supper an Italian accent. It's so easy to do if you use a new Italian corn oil dressing with an intriguing flavor. No need to add extra herbs or to fuss with peeling raw garlic with this recipe.

Beef and Vegetables Italiano

- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup margarine or butter
- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1/4 cup Italian corn oil dressing
- 1/4 cups water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups mushrooms
- 6 carrots, peeled and quartered
- 6 potatoes, peeled and quartered
- 1 lb. green beans, ends removed

Mix flour with 1/2 teaspoons of salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Melt margarine or butter in deep skillet. Add browned steak and brown slowly but well, turning often. Add onion, Italian corn oil dressing, water and 1 teaspoon salt. Bring to boil, cover tightly and simmer slowly 1 hour. Add mushrooms and their liquid. Arrange prepared vegetables over meat. Cover and continue to simmer 30 minutes. Serve with crisp cole slaw for six.

Zesty Cole Slaw

Put in a large bowl (in order given) 4 cups finely-shredded cabbage, 2 teaspoons grated onion, 1/4 cup finely-chopped green pepper, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, dash of salt, 1/2 cup real mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon Italian corn oil dressing. Mix well; cover and chill. Serve in 4 to 6 individual bowls with sliced radish or other garnish.

Tells Deals of Bankrupt Corporation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fuller Matthews, president of the Jefferson Finance Co. of Pine Bluff, was questioned Tuesday about his firm's dealings with the bankrupt Arkansas Business Development Corp. While he was on the ABCD board.

Matthews appeared before Lee Cazor, Sr. referee in bankruptcy in Federal District Court.

He displayed records showing the Pine Bluff firm borrowed almost $25,000 from ABCD during 1959.

Matthews said Jefferson Finance Co. entered into a contract with an ABCD subsidiary, Financial Security Corp. to sell its stock to the public. A number of payments were made to Financial Security Corp. to be applied to the loans from ABCD, he said.

Matthews testified that most of his dealings were with Alan D. Springer, president of ABCD before it went bankrupt.

Some of the stock was sold on time payments, Matthews said, and he added that Financial Security did not remit the money to his company. He assumed it was turned over to ABCD to repay the loans.

Thirteen presidential candidates have been elected with a popular vote of less than 50 per cent of the total votes cast.

20th Century Has Third Top Manager

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The third man to head production at 20th Century-Fox Studios is an impressive, but no-nonsense guy named Robert Goldstein.

First chief was Darryl F. Zanuck, who ruled the lot with an iron hand from 1935 to 1956, leaving his imprint on most of the product. Then came Buddy Adler, the friendly, talented movie maker whose career was cut short by cancer this summer.

His successor is a man who rates only six lines in the Motion Picture Almanac. When 20th-Fox President Spyros Skouras passed over the more obvious candidates to choose Goldstein, a common comment was "Who's he?" It was perhaps a natural question for a man who spent much of his life in the shadow of his identical twin. He was long associated with his brother Leonard, a bright, showy film producer. They made a perfect team at Universal, Bob finding new faces as talent executive and Leonard using them in as many as 19 films a year.

They were partners in their own company until Leonard's death five years ago. Then Bob took over the 20th-Fox London operation, helping to organize films like "Inn of the Sixth Happiness" and "Sons and Lovers."

He is 57, with curly hair and alert eyes, his medium size almost dwarfed in his massive office.

When I suggested that his was supposed to be a man-killing job, he said: "A man is destined to die from the moment he is born. That has never worried me. I'm a fatalist."

"Yes, I work hard. I get to the studio about 8:15 and I leave around 7. Sometimes I have dinner and I come back to run a picture. It's a long day, but I have no family to worry about and I'm doing what I like. I think the real danger for a man is when he wakes up in the morning and dreads going to work."

Security Risks Number 1,000

WASHINGTON (A) — Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., asserted today more than 1,000 security risks now hold government jobs.

President Eisenhower, he said, has refused since last January to tell him their names.

Walter showed reporters letters contained in correspondence that he had conducted with the White House concerning his request to identify what he called known security risks.

As chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Walter said he wants the names of all employees separated from service under a loyalty program but rehired after a 1956 decision of the Supreme Court let them have their jobs back.

The battle field at Gettysburgh was dedicated as a national cemetery on Nov. 19, 1863, only 42 months after the battle was fought.

7 Airmen Now on Their Way Home

McGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N. J. (AP)—Seven U. S. airmen arrived home aboard a hospital plane today and described their bewilderment at being attacked by a Congolese mob last month.

"I was hit with clubs and sticks and guns and fists," said Lt. Kenneth Sticklevers of Valley Stream, N. Y.

"I thought maybe the whole world was against me," said Lt. Gerald T. Henery of Washington, D. C.

They arrived after an 18-hour flight from Germany.

Left behind was Capt. Elbert L. Mott of Glenmori, La., commander of the U. S. Air Force plane that was airlifting communications equipment into the Congo interior at the time of the attack Aug. 27. Mott is in a hospital in Wiesbaden, Germany, with serious injuries.

The rest of the eight-man crew came home aboard a C118, converted into a hospital plane. Three were on stretchers, the others bandaged and bearing other evidence of the attack.

Lt. Armand A. Kelsenberg of Pierz, Minn., told a newsman he got a fractured wrist and a bashtd knee in the attack. He said the Congolese soldiers hit him with everything they could find for 15 minutes.

Kennedy to Northwest in Vote Drive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy carries his campaign to the Northwest today after Labor Day attacks in Michigan on Republican economic and foreign policies.

This GOP opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, was cheered by the word that he may be able to leave Walter Reed Army Hospital Saturday instead of Sunday. Doctors reported he was making a fine recovery from the knee infection that hospitalized him a week ago.

Nixon, who has been working on campaign plans from his hospital bed, plans to leave next Monday on a 9,000-mile campaign swing.

Kennedy campaigns today in Pocatello, Idaho, Spokane and Seattle, Wash. He will make speeches Wednesday in Oregon before leaving Portland by train for a two-day whistle stop tour through California.

In an address prepared for a Pocatello rally, Kennedy said that "to assert leadership abroad requires that we assert leadership at home. It requires that we move ahead on every front and on every frontier. And we have not been moving ahead in recent years."

Thousands turned out Monday to greet Kennedy at Detroit, Flint and Muskegon, Mich. He contended the Republicans were stifling economic growth and failing to provide proper leadership.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Kennedy's running mate, spent the weekend at his Texas ranch near Austin. He will speak here and in Boston and campaign Friday in Hartford, Conn., and New York City before returning to Washington on Saturday.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Nixon's running mate, makes the first formal speech of his campaign today in the high school at Abington, Pa. Accompanied by New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Lodge campaigned over the holiday weekend at beaches in the New York area. Thousands of others greeted them as they toured by helicopter—shaking hands, patting babies and munching on hot dogs.

Former President Harry S. Truman spoke at Marion, Ind., in behalf of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. He said continuation of a Republican administration probably would lead to "depression and real disaster."

Political footnotes:
The Saturday Evening Post has endorsed Nixon for the presidency. The Post supported Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, told a rally at Worcester, Mass., that a Democratic president and a Democratic Congress are needed to meet the Soviet challenge and to provide sound social welfare legislation.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson told a county fair crowd at Chesterfield, Va., that Kennedy executed a "complete flip-flop in his farm voting record" when he began thinking about running for president.

Park Service Wants Quick Land Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Park Service has asked Arkansas officials whether state-owned land can be transferred to the federal government promptly for the Arkansas Post National Memorial.

A Park Service spokesman said it isn't known here whether the land can be turned over to the government without a special act by the Arkansas Legislature.

Congress this year approved establishment of the national memorial and authorized a $125,000 appropriation for development and for acquisition of land.

The park would memorialize a fur trading post established in 1696.

National Park Service officials, testifying at congressional hearings on the memorial bill, requested $403,000. In paying this to $125,000, Congress added a provision that no more than $25,000 be used for land acquisition.

An aide to Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said today that for this reason there is no definite indication now as to just how many acres will be included in the memorial. It will depend, he said, upon how much land is contributed by the state and private citizens.

Sometime ago Fulbright asked the Park Service whether it could use money in the current fiscal year for development of the post memorial.

The Park Service replied that it cannot request money from Congress to develop areas to which it does not own title.

The service's regional office at Richmond, Va., will have charge of acquiring land and proposing the boundaries for the memorial.

Houston in Delay of Integration

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negro parents sought to enter their children in previously all-white schools here today, but school authorities did not enroll them immediately.

These Negro children had sought admission at two schools. The attempt to enroll the children were the only immediate developments when the nation's largest segregated school system opened its doors for the fall term under federal court orders to integrate.

School officials said it will be at least Monday before Negroes are admitted to previously all-white schools.

The school board in an emergency session Tuesday night voted 4-0 to order Supt. John W. McFarland to follow U. S. District Judge Ben C. Connally's order to integrate the first grade. But the same motion specified that Negro applicants would not be notified until Friday if they are to be accepted.

A survey of school areas today showed an unusual number of adults around the schools, and there was no evidence of any police guards for the opening.

"No court or court case says we must lessen the efficiency of our schools when we integrate," commented Stone Wells, board vice president.

The action was taken at an emergency board meeting shortly after the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans turned down an appeal and Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled the district would not add $6 million in state school funds.

Wilson held that a school district which integrated under federal court orders did not do so voluntarily and thus was not subject to penalties of a state law.

The Houston developments came on a day marked by peaceful school integration for the first time in Richmond, Va., capital of the Confederacy, and two other Virginia cities, Henrico and Pulaski.

Negroes attended public schools with white youngsters without incident in a gradually increasing number of other Southern cities. Florida's first public secondary school was integrated in taken fashion when a Negro girl enrolled at North Miami Beach Junior High along with 1,300 white pupils.

But the Deep South states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina stood firm, although New Orleans has been ordered to integrate Nov. 14 and Atlanta by next fall.

A dozen Negroes attended opening classes with white pupils at Central and Hall high schools in Little Rock, Ark., scene of segregationist demonstrations in past years. There was no sign of trouble this time.

Near Pine Bluff, Ark., a Negro girl, 6, prepared to attempt to break the racial barrier today at the all-white Dollarway District School. Dolores Jean York, a first grader, was assigned to the school by the board in compliance with a

Ike Deplores Congo Aid by Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States deplores "the unilateral action of the Soviet Union in supplying aircraft and other equipment for military purposes to the Congo."

The President told a news conference that this has aggravated "an already serious situation which finds Africans killing other Africans."

Eisenhower said further that if these planes are flown by Soviet military personnel "this would be contrary to the principles so far applied regarding use in the Congo of military contingents from the larger powers."

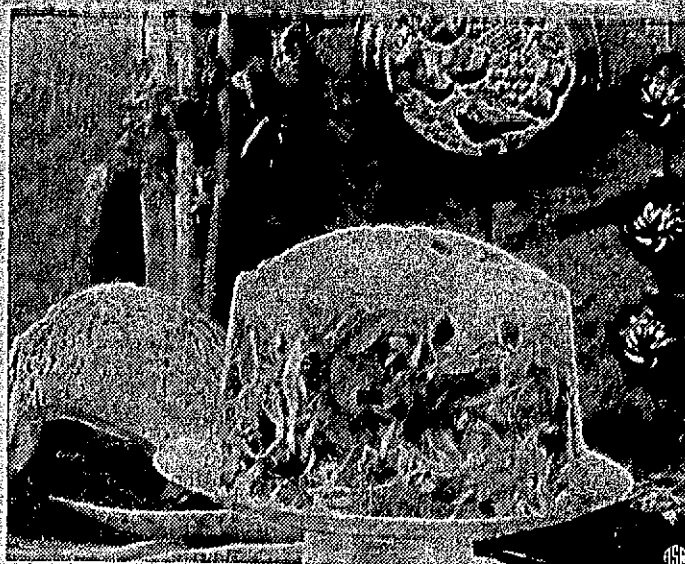

"The President went on to say that so far as he knows these rules have previously been upheld by the Soviet Union."

"Therefore," he added, "it would be doubly serious if such participation by military units were part of an operation in the civil war which has recently taken on very ugly overtones."

The western-most point of the United States is not in the new state of Hawaii, but in Alaska, Atli Island.

Segregationists have been active in the Dollarway District since three Negro teenagers tried unsuccessfully to integrate the school early in 1959.

Mold Your Garden In A Salad

Perfection salad presents a relish crispness which men like. There's zest to the shredded cabbage, diced celery and green pepper or pimiento chilled in unflavored gelatine and perked with fresh lemon juice.

The jellied salad with its garden-fresh vegetables can be chilled until firm in a decorative mold or in the mixing bowl in which it was assembled. If the latter method is used, the salad does not require unmolding and may be spooned into lettuce leaves at meal time. Unflavored gelatine blends the relish-type vegetables into harmonious unity.

Perfection Salad
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups cold water, divided
1/4 cup vinegar or lemon juice
3/4 cup finely shredded cabbage
1 cup diced celery
3/4 cup diced green pepper or pimiento

Mix together gelatine, sugar and salt in a saucepan. Stir in 1/2 cup of the cold water. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in remaining 1/2 cup water, vinegar or lemon juice. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in cabbage, celery and green pepper. Turn into a 6 cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. If desired, unmold on salad greens; serve with mayonnaise. Yield: 6 servings.

NOTE: If desired shredded carrot may be substituted for the cabbage. Diced cucumber may be substituted for all or half the celery.

Good Meat Bargains for Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives can choose from a wide assortment of bargains at meat counters this week.

Many neighborhood groceries and supermarkets are featuring beef as their weekend special. Hams, however, are being spotlighted in some areas with fowls being offered at bargain rates in some northeastern stores.

Other specials in various areas include corned beef, veal and lamb.

New items reaching the vegetable and fruit markets this week include Florida squash, Kansas and Texas cantaloup, the first New York Bosc pears and the first New Jersey sweet potatoes.

Best buys among vegetables include cabbage, corn, cucumbers, egg plant, Eastern onions and potatoes.

In the good-buy category are

Faubus Asked to Meet Kennedy

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has received an invitation to greet Democratic presidential nominee John Kennedy when he arrives in Texarkana Sept. 13 for a speaking engagement, but aides said they did not know if he would accept.

Aides said the governor was out of the city Tuesday when the invitation arrived from Grover Starnes of Sulphur Springs, Tex.

Faubus is on record in support of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket but not the Democratic platform plank on Civil Rights.

Beans, carrots, cauliflower, Eastern celery, beets, green onions, radishes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, peppers, endives and escaroles.

Best fruit buys this week are Thompson seedless grapes, prunes and peaches.

Avocados and pears, especially the Western Bartlett variety are rated as good buys.

116 Are Left Dead in Wake of Hurricane

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Hurricane Donna churned toward the northwest today leaving in its wake at least 116 dead and hundreds missing on Puerto Rico and other Caribbean islands.

As the storm, packing 125 mile-an-hour winds, continued its menacing westerly swing, warnings went out to the Bahamas and all points along the southeast coast of the United States to watch hurricane advisories for the next few days.

At the last report, Donna was 600 miles east southeast of Miami and 50 miles north northwest of Turks Island in the southern Bahamas.

The island was buffeted by winds of over 60 miles an hour and drenched by torrential rain during the night. Interests in the central Bahamas were warned to prepare for hurricane winds as Donna approached at 8 miles an hour.

The hurricane left death and destruction in its path. Puerto Rico alone counted at least 106 dead and another 200 missing in flattened sections of Pinar del Rio and at least seven persons perished Monday in the Leeward Islands. Five of these victims were killed on Anguilla and the other two on Antigua Island.

Still groggy, Puerto Ricans began cleaning up after the killer storm that dealt their island its worst blow in decades.

The specter of epidemic loomed over stricken areas where dead cattle polluted the water.

With the death toll still mounting, Humacao, hardest hit of the Puerto Rican areas, reported 20 bodies recovered. Some 550 persons were reported injured in the area, most of them residents of slum shacks along the beaches.

Millsap Lists His Expenses, $4,658

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Hal Millsap Jr., of Shoam Springs listed personal expenses of $4,658 in his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Millsap filed the accounting with the secretary of state office Tuesday. He was the last of the five gubernatorial candidates to do so.

Candidates are required to list only their personal expenses and not expenditures made in their behalf by members of their families or friends.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett listed his expenses at $5,250, H. E. Williams of Walnut Ridge $5,211, Joe C. Hardin of Greely $4,057 and Gov. Orval E. Faubus $1,700.

Enjoy Baked Apples A New Way

Glazed to perfection and so delicious, these rosy apples will set the whole family singing. Serve them warm with cream for tonight's dessert. Here's the new trick: Instead of baking the apples, simmer them on top of the range in a syrup of fruit-flavored gelatin spiced with cinnamon and cloves. You'll like this new way to achieve a more perfect glaze and flavor some baked apple.

Rosy Glazed Apples
1 package (3 ozs.) strawberry-flavored gelatin
1 package (3 ozs.) apple-flavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 cup cold water
6 large red baking apples
1 large stick cinnamon
6 whole cloves

Dissolve 2 packages of gelatin in 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Add 1 cup cold water. Core apples. Starting at stem end, pare off a 1-inch strip of skin around each apple. Place apples, stem up, in a large skillet. Pour gelatin syrup over apples in skillet. Add spices. Place skillet over medium heat and bring liquid to a boil. Cover; reduce heat. Simmer apples 15 minutes or until tender. Remove cover. Place skillet under broiler about 2 inches from heat. Broil apples, basting frequently, 15 minutes or until apples are glazed and lightly browned. Serve warm or cool with syrup. Makes 6 servings.

Note: If apples are to be stored in refrigerator, pour syrup into a small pan and chill until set. Before serving, rice or dice the set syrup and arrange around each serving.

New Form of Paper Currency

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—There's a new form of paper currency making its debut this month on the crowded and complicated international scene.

It's the florin-cheque, in three denominations—each representing so many florins. The florin is an unprinted monetary unit pegged at 25 U.S. cents or one Swiss franc. And there's a clearing house in Detroit and another in Zurich, Switzerland, to square international accounts in florins.

The florin, and now also its paper token the florin-cheque, are accepted at some 24,000 spots around the world—even behind the Iron Curtain. But they aren't redeemable in money—only in flowers or plants.

The florin and the florin-cheque are unlikely to rival the U.S. dollar and the British pound sterling as a basic medium of international trade. But they are counted upon to boost the sale of flowers and to make things easier for those who want to give flowers to overseas relatives or friends.

A side benefit for the customer is skipping the vagaries of foreign exchange. The florin goes unchanged in value while other

Disabled Veterans Founder Dies

CINCINNATI (AP)—Funeral services are planned Thursday for Judge Robert S. Marx, 71, attorney and founder of the Disabled American Veterans, who died Tuesday after a heart attack at his summer home in Charlevoix, Mich.

More orthodox currencies may fluctuate. And the customer doesn't have to worry about what sudden changes in money values might do to his gift. Between his visit to his local florist and delivery of the flowers, half way around the globe, the international clearing houses adjust the florin's daily fluctuations.

Now with the new florin-cheque he can mail a nonfluctuating bill of scrip and let the recipient choose his own flowers.

The florin-cheque comes in denominations of $5, $7.50, and $10 around the world in the 24,000 member shops of the florists' Telegraph Delivery Assn. and its international affiliate, Interflora Inc.

Florin-cheques have to be sent to buy flowers or plants—he can't use it for a night on the town.

Businessmen Differ on a Recession

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Business spokesmen differ as to whether a recession is under way or in the offing or unlikely. But many executives appear to be taking the same measures now they would if an actual one were here.

They are cutting inventories to a minimum. They are holding up new orders. They are trimming payrolls. They are giving price concessions to hold customers. They are clipping overhead costs at every opportunity.

Slipping sales volume has inspired some of the belt-tightening. But in many cases the spur has come from dropping profit margins. Rising operating costs have turned record sales into smaller net income. And management is going after those higher costs.

The slowdown in ordering and the trend to lower inventories has put a crimp in the output of several basic industries—one of the few signs so far that anyone could point to as foretelling a recession. Some of the cost cutting is hailed as trimming away overhead fat that crept onto corporate muscles during the lush days that followed the 1957-58 recession and again during the rebound from the steel strike. And some cost cutting is long range, aimed at installing more efficient machinery in more economical plants.

But some economists warn that heavy cost cutting can cause more trouble for a company than it cures.

For example, hard has to be taken in laying off workers. You may lose a skilled man altogether, one you would sorely miss later. And also you would lose the cost of training a trainee and have to start all over when you realize that the man you laid off can't be hired again and sometimes lead to a bigger loss in the long run.

A favorite cost-cutting device in slow times is to drop less profitable market areas and customers who add little to your total earnings. This often pays off in higher profits. But here care must be taken. There is the loss of the investment in building up the potential market and also the question of whether it might later turn into a very profitable one.

Many business managements are weighing these procedures. As profit margins drop, corporate accountants study salesmen's expense accounts very closely. Some firms are buying tourist tickets on planes instead of first-class tickets.

Purchasing agents are under pressure to get the lowest possible price for needed materials—but here, too, warning is against the risk of lower grades and time-tried materials that could cut product quality and hence torpedo sales.
